A proposal for the Friends of Calligraphy to underwrite beginning calligraphy classes open to the public at Fort Mason (see FOC Bulletin, No. 50, June 1997, pg. 3) was approved at a special meeting of the Council on Friday, October 10.

Coordinator Georgianna Greenwood presented a plan for four sessions of classes in 1998. Each session would meet on seven consecutive Thursday evenings, 6:30-9pm, in a room on the second floor of Building C at Fort Mason. Tuition: FOC members $110, non-members $120.

Since the mailing which includes this leaflet took place on Tuesday, October 14 (two working days after the Council meeting), the specific dates of the sessions have not yet been confirmed by the contract with Fort Mason. However, the anticipated 1998 schedule of sessions is:

- Session 1: ~~January 22 - March 5~~ Jan 15 - Feb 26
- Session 2: March 19 - April 30
- Session 3: May 14 - June 25
- Session 4: September 17 - October 29

These classes will be designed for serious as well as recreational students of lettering and calligraphy, and will be taught by experienced teachers introducing the fundamentals of calligraphy, writing with a broad-edged pen and page layout. At this time the roster of teachers includes Monica Dengo, Ward Dunham, Thomas Ingmire, Kathy McNicholas, Georgia Deaver. (There was not time before the mailing to confirm the teachers & scripts to be taught in the schedule.)

These classes will be advertised vigorously in San Francisco and elsewhere. Leaflets will be available for distribution to schools, libraries, art supply stores, in classes, etc. early in November. For information, leaflets, and registration, contact Georgianna Greenwood, 555-461-4888.

Other members of the FOC Classes-at-Fort-Mason committee are Thomas Ingmire, Susie Taylor, & David Winkler.
