

LETTER FROM THE PREZ

Happy New Year! The year began with our annual Trivial Pursuits, the twenty-sixth year. I hope all who attended had a great time [ed. note: we did]. We have to appreciate all the time and effort our members put into making it a success: good classes, good food, good goodies, wonderful envelopes and lots of good help. It was a good thing! Karen Kinner, who came all the way from Red Bluff, won the envelope contest and received a great prize give to us by Sakura of America. Vicky Lee had everyone drooling with her goody bags. David Brookes' nametags are a collectors item [ed. note: he slaved over them and wishes that the Muse would strike earlier]. Laura Bernabei's fancy FOC cookies were a hit [ed. note: and delicious]. Lunch made by my daughter, Miya Carpenter, was a success (now to get her interested in calligraphy). Our teachers were fantastic. Although Martha Boccalini had to cancel due to a fall (she is OK), Jerry Lehman came to the rescue and taught in her place. Dena Sneider, Marcia Friedman, Raoul Martinez, Joe Boissy and Evelyn Eldridge did an outstanding job passing on their projects in five quick 50-minute classes. Thanks to all!

We had the good fortune to have the charming Massimo Polello from Turin, Italy, to teach us Corsiva Romana. Those of us who took the workshop learned to decipher, write, dance, and brush it. It was wonderful to see his skill with a pen and brush. How lucky we were to share him with the Portland Guild and Society for Calligraphy in Southern California. Thank you, Elena Caruthers, for coordinating it, Laura Bernabei for hosting Massimo, being a tour guide, and sharing her coffee equipment to keep us up and hydrated [although your editor believes that coffee dehydrates you, but perhaps he errs], and Meredith Klein for our name tags.

Our annual FOC retreat was held March 5 - 9 at the Santa Sabina Center at the fringes of the campus of Dominican University in San Rafael. Those who attend look forward to time in the Scriptorium and sharing time with fellow FOC members.

Please check the enclosed flyer for the AGM and presentation by Carl Rohrs (a remembrance of Georgia Deaver) at the San Francisco Main Library.

Do some art today and keep well!

RETREAT 2014

Your editor felt that this illustration from a 15th century German manuscript represented a rather negative German view of scribes, horns and all when he used it on his Retreat keepsake, but he discovered that this is actually Moses writing Leviticus; the horns are from a Vulgate translation of a Hebrew word that can also refer to shining rays of light. Note the dark glasses and that some poor flunky novice has already drawn guidelines for Moses.

30+ Friends of Calligraphy gathered from Wednesday evening, March 5, through lunch on Sunday, March 9, for the annual Retreat, an event whose origins are hoary (something like 35 years ago). For well over 20 years it has been held at Santa Sabina, a conference center run by the Dominican order on the fringe of the Dominican University campus in San Rafael. The setting is tranquil, someone makes your meals and brews your coffee, many people provide snack food in case you feel peckish between meals, and the Scriptorium is set up with silent times both mornings and afternoons. In other words, there is no excuse not to, you know, do some calligraphy. So we did calligraphy, and art, and paste paper, and sharing. This year was unusual in that there were five people who had never attended a Retreat before; all five blended in happily, at least none of them complained to me. As someone who lives alone, it still surprises me how productive this time can be. There really does seem to be a special power in shared silence that is harder to find on one's own.

The dates for Retreat 2015 are March 4 to March 8. Look for a flyer with details in the fall mailing and send in your deposit to reserve a space in this special time. db

NOT HEAT FLAMES UP

Last year Raoul Martinez took Risa Gettler's weekend workshop on Visigothic Versals while enrolled in Georgianna Greenwood's seven-week Carolingian class. My response to this overload would probably have been multi-systems shutdown, but Raoul combined what he learned in the two classes to produce this powerful rendition of a Walt Whitman poem (I need to be reminded frequently that the 19th century produced some amazing and difficult poets like Whitman and Gerard Manley Hopkins). To my eye, the absolute legibility of Raoul's Carolingian is a perfect foil for the playfulness of the versals, the best of both worlds. The original version of this piece in color is stunning; I will include a URL to see the original in the June Bulletin. db

Not the air, delicious and dry,
the air of the ripe summer,
beats lightly along white down
balls of myriads of seeds,
Wafted, sailing gracefully, to

O I the same; O nor down balls,

Wafted in all directions
O love, for friendship, for you.

A REVIEW OF JUDY DETRICK'S GILDING CLASS

Cari Ferraro took Judy Detrick's gilding class last November. She clearly was paying attention and put a comprehensive (and, yes, favorable) review of it, complete with pictures by Jessie Evans, on her website. If you are interested in reliving the class, or just seeing what you missed, go to cariferraro.com/2014/02/04/modern-medieval-manuscript-gilding/

DISAPPEARING PAY NOW BUTTON?

Not seeing the Pay Now dropdown box for an FOC class or workshop? Have you gone to the FOC Classes page to register for a workshop and the Pay Now icon and dropdown box weren't there? It might be that what you are seeing is out of date. Your computer is set up to save pieces of web pages to speed up browsing. This way, the whole page doesn't have to be re-downloaded each time you look at it, so sometimes you might not see the latest version of a page. This might occur, for example, if the webmaster happened to change the page after you opened it. You can force your browser to download the latest version of a page by clicking the refresh (aka reload) button. This button is a little arrow spinning in a circle. It is usually either to the right or the left of the web page address. If clicking doesn't change what you see, try holding down the shift key and clicking the button again. If you can't find the button, try keying Control-R (Windows), Command-R (Mac), or Control-Shift-R (Windows), Command-Shift-R (Mac).

If you try these options and the PayPal dropdown box doesn't appear, contact Judy Detrick or Dean Robino or the workshop coordinator. [Your editor asks that you not blame him if your computer explodes in a fiery ball.]

There are 29 Calligraphy exchange groups, which are not included in these numbers. The Council thanked Meredith for her personal devotion and research for updating the membership numbers. Meredith received a donation from Dave Kuwahara which may be used for a gift membership where needed. Georgianna suggested a recipient for the gift membership and Meredith will follow up.

TRIVIAL PURSUITS XXVI 2015

Dorothy Yuki has passed the Trivial Pursuits baton without a stumble into the very capable hands of Evelyn Eldridge. The date in 2015 will be January 10 with the flyer coming out in September and, I expect, an earliest postmark date in early December. Evelyn is looking for a few good souls, six to be exact, to teach. If you have an idea or want more information, contact her at escrita@gmail.com. I can pretty much predict that you will end up exhausted and exhilarated.
